Margarida Lima Rego is (tenured) Associate Professor and Vice-Dean at NOVA School of Law, NOVA University, Lisbon, where she has lectured regularly since 2005.

She is scientific coordinator of the Master's in Law and Financial Markets and of the School of Law's PhD Programme in Law. She also coordinates the NOVA Knowledge Centre for Data-Driven Law. She is currently in charge of the courses of Law of Obligations (undergraduate) and Insurance Law (master's).

As an academic, she has taught different courses and published in a wide range of topics within Private Law, with a special focus on Contract Law. Previously, as a practitioner, she was very active in the areas of civil and commercial law. She was Of Counsel to Morais Leitão, where she headed the insurance, reinsurance and pension funds cross-practice team, having left the firm in July 2019 to pursue her academic career on a full time basis. As an attorney, she provided regular legal counselling in the setting up of varied operations on behalf of domestic and international clients, and in the drafting and negotiation of commercial contracts, with an emphasis on insurance. She is still an active legal consultant who is regularly sought on varied subject matters of Portuguese and Lusophone Law, having contributed to dispute resolutions before the courts of several jurisdictions in Europe, Africa and North and South America.

Margarida Lima Rego was a member of the Portuguese Bar between 2002 and 2019. Current positions include: President of AIDA Portugal; Executive Committee and Scientific Committee of AIDA Europe; Presidential Council of AIDA World. Chairwoman of the Commercial Law and Practice Commission of the Portuguese chapter of the International Chamber of Commerce.
