Welcome messages

01

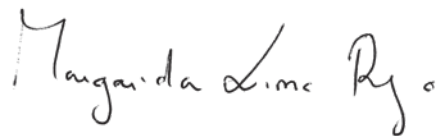

We are delighted to welcome you to what will be your home for the next two years. Whether we have already been part of our journey or you have just arrived we will do everything we can to make you feel like you belong. Studying Law at NOVA School of Law means accepting the challenge and responsibility of being prepared to make a difference towards making a difference in the construction of a more fair society.

Our mission is to train complete people, capable of facing the global challenges of our century in these times of hinge, when decisive choices are made for our own collective future. We train people for global citizenship, agents of change ready to put their skills at the service of the common good, in Portugal and in the world.

Here you will find a space of total freedom to expose and discuss your ideas, even the most daring; an environment of mutual help, where everyone is part of the same team, where the success of one is only worth it if it is the success of all. More than filling your heads, we want to open them to innovation, to rigorous and critical thinking, to the global and pragmatic way of analysing problems. You will find a dedicated institution made up of close but demanding teachers, able to decode the most intricate issues, opening horizons and challenging you to leave your comfort zone to develop your skills and knowledge in a multiplicity of contexts, national and international, in order to become the best versions of who you are, enabling you to face the professional challenges of the next decades.

We are waiting for you with our usual banners: demand, depth, creativity, innovation, globalisation, focus on the solution. We believe that here every student finds his or her path.
Always remember:

Learning is changing the world!

We wish you every success and hope that this experience at NOVA will be enriching at all levels. We hope that the challenges you encounter will be transformed into opportunities for growth and that every achievement will be a source of pride.

Access data

When you enrol, you receive on your personal email the credentials to access all the platforms and the School network.

To the received username you must add @novalaw.unl.pt (Ex: 50123@novalaw.unl.pt) and insert the chosen password.

This data is the same to enter on all platforms except for Office 365 and the eduroam network (the wireless network of the School) where the user is followed by "@fd.unl.pt" instead of @novalaw.unl.pt (Ex: 50123@fd.unl.pt).

In the School's Moodle you can find several manuals for all the computer tools available.

Student Area - NetPA

The student area (NetPA) is a digital platform where you can find all the relevant information for your academic path. It is here that you can register for exams and curricular units. In NetPA you can find the document requests and other requirements, the payment data of tuition fees and other fees, as well as information about your academic path.

You should log in regularly to your student area here for the most up to date information: NetPA

Study materials - MOODLE

Moodle (or e-Learning platform) is where you can find the information concerning each curricular unit and the documents provided by each teacher.

On the platform, you will find the list of curricular units you have enrolled in, and by clicking on any of them, you will have a compilation of the information provided by the teacher.

Access to Moodle with personal credentials: <https://moodle.novalaw.unl.pt/> (link always available at the bottom of the Faculty site - www.novalaw.unl.pt).

Institutional e-mail

The official communication of the School and with the School will always be carried out through the institutional email. Therefore, its frequent consultation is a duty of every student.

Your email is your studentnumber@novalaw.unl.pt and the password is the same as your student area. It will be available until 48 hours after the enrolment made in NetPA. To access the email you should open the link <https://outlook.office365.com/mail/>.

You can set up the forwarding of your institutional email to your personal account so you do not lose contact - a tutorial is available in Moodle for this.

Access to Wi-Fi on campus

EDUROAM NETWORK - international network for wi-fi access in Higher Education Institutions

User: studentnumber@fd.unl.pt (Ex: 50123@fd.unl.pt)

Password: same as in the student area

Office 365

Through a partnership between Microsoft and Higher Education Institutions, it is possible to download Office software to various devices with student access data. More information at <https://www.microsoft.com/pt-pt/education/products/office>

Assessment

It is recommended to consult the Curricular Unit Forms (FUC) of each curricular unit when starting the course in order to check the assessment rules to be applied.

https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/DIFTasks?_PR_=1&_AP_=3&_MD_=1&_SR_=DIRDI&_ST_=2&DOCENTE_FILTRO=true&DEPAR_FILTRO=true

Examinations are held at the end of each semester; however, there may be continuous assessment during the semester.

In case of registration in the curricular unit, the registration for the semester exam (if it exists) is automatic.

The Regulation of Knowledge and Competences Evaluation - Exams Periods can be consulted in this link.

<https://novalaw.unl.pt/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/14303-1.pdf>

Appeal examinations and grade improvement

These exams will take place in the semester following the curricular unit's attendance.

Information about repeating curricular units, appeals and improvement of grades, attendance of supplementary curricular units and calculation of final averages can be consulted in the Regulation available here.

https://novalaw.unl.pt/wp-content/uploads/2021/01/Regulamento-1126_2020_Av-de-conhecimentos-e-competencias.pdf

Other relevant information about the evaluations

Other relevant information about the evaluations:

- Anonymous examinations: Each student is identified by personal and individual codes for each exam, so that anonymity in taking the exams is guaranteed.

If you enter the wrong exam number, the student should contact the Academic Service (master@novalaw.unl.pt) to solve the situation.

The examination numbers are available on NetPA > School Activities > Registration for Examinations > Definitive > column "Examination number" (example of an examination number: 100XXXXXXXXX) and are also automatically sent the day before the examination to the institutional email address of each student.

- Examination paper proof: On the side of the exam paper there is a tear-away note to be filled in with the same data that the student puts on the exam paper. This note will remain in the student's possession and can be used as proof of the exam.

Registration for exams

The registration for exams of appeal and improvement exams is done online, in NetPA (School Activities " Registration for exams " Final " Select the exams you want and finalise the procedure).

Applications are available only in the period provided for in the school calendar. For 2024/2025 the applicable deadlines are as follows:

- 14 to 18 October/2024 - Registration for the 1st semester exams of Appeal and Improvement.
- 17 to 21 of February 2025 - Registration for the Special Season Exams - 1st semester.
- 05 of May until the 9th 2025 - Registration for Remedial and Improvement exams - 2nd semester.
- 28 of July until the 1st of August 2025 - Registration for the Special Season Exams - 2nd semester.

For the semester exams (course units you are attending) it is not necessary to carry out the registration procedure, since the registration is automatic.

Appeal exams

There is no limit to the number of these examinations and they can be taken until the curricular unit is approved. It is not allowed to take the exams in subjects where there was no previous enrolment.

Improvement exams

After the approval in a curricular unit, it is possible to take an improvement examination in one of the two normal or special examination periods subsequent to the one in which the approval occurred. The possibility to take improvement exams in the special season presupposes that the student meets the specific requirements for access to that season.

In the 2nd cycle, (master) each student can perform a maximum of two registrations in improvement examinations. Students can only take one improvement examination in each curricular unit and, for that purpose, the right to take an improvement examination will be considered terminated in case of unjustified absence from an improvement examination or withdrawal during the examination.

A fee of €15.00 is due for each improvement exams students wish to enrol and take. This fee is non-refundable.

You can consult the applicable regulation at this link.

Information about the research phase

According to the Vice-Dean`s Dispatch 25/2023, the student will be able to enrol in the non taught phase leaving, exceptionally, a maximum of two unfulfilled course units of his/her study plan in the taught phase.

When registering for the research phase, the student may choose one of three modalities (internship report, dissertation or project work) for the elaboration of the end-of-course assignment.

Modalities

- Dissertation: according to the chosen area of interest, an argumentative written work is carried out. The author, when discussing the topic and presenting his/her thesis, must do so using data, statistics, research, facts, examples, quotations, etc.
- Internship report: the internship must take place in an entity other than the Faculty, previously approved by it, capable of providing the student with a work experience and monitoring that will enable him/her to achieve the established objectives. The internship may be remunerated, but must not correspond to an activity carried out with the purpose of obtaining a licence to exercise a profession, namely law or soliciting. The internship must have a duration of not less than four months and not more than six months. The internship report must not be merely descriptive; the internship must be seen by the student as a means of carrying out legal research. The report may contain a critical analysis of the activities developed during the internship and must develop one or more legal issues that the student has faced during the internship.
As soon as possible, students who opt for a traineeship should present the traineeship protocol signed by themselves, by the representative/s of the host institution and by NOVA School of Law (to sign the protocol, students should contact the Student Support Service - Career Management: careers@novalaw.unl.pt).
- Project work: The Faculty's knowledge centres or those of other higher education institutions may host students for project work that falls within the scope of broader scientific research projects, provided that the work to be carried out within its scope is related to one or more subjects of the Master's Degree of enrolment. The project work may consist namely in collecting and processing, for any purpose, namely statistical or other, information relevant for legal research (e.g. legislation or case-law). The processing of the information should include a part of critical analysis, namely from the perspectives of legislation science, legislative policy, legal sociology or law analysis.
Project work may also consist of participation, representing the School, in an international Moot Court which includes written submissions.

The School provides a frequently updated list of topics that each student can consult as a reference for their choice of research and guidance. This list is available on NetPA. <https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/page>

Please note that the list is indicative and does not guarantee orientation, and the professor should be contacted for this purpose.

Time to look for a supervisor and rules about who can mentor:

At the end of the teaching phase, before starting the research phase, and depending on the topic they want to work on, the student should contact the professor they wish to have as their supervisor. When enrolling in the research phase, the student must register their topic and supervisor, in accordance with the procedure available on the school's portal.

Quality of Education

Every semester, NOVA School of Law provides perception questionnaires on the functioning of the curricular units. Integrated in NOVA SIMAQ (NOVA's Internal System for Monitoring and Evaluating Quality), these questionnaires aim at assessing the degree of satisfaction and favour the improvement of the quality of the teaching-learning process. The data collected help the responsible teachers and the Pedagogical Council to identify the positive points and the aspects that should be adjusted.

Students receive by email all the information to answer the surveys.

Don't forget to fill them in, your opinion is valued and essential.

The Student Ombudsperson is the body of NOVA, appointed by the Rector, whose competence is to assess complaints made by students, being independent and acting in an impartial and discreet way.

Internships, employment and entrepreneurship

Focused on Innovation, Interdisciplinarity and Diversity, NOVA School of Law recognizes the increasing need to offer solid support to employability, providing students and graduates with the necessary tools and knowledge to face the challenges of a career that will be increasingly changeable and flexible.

The Student Support Service - Career Management is the main connection point between the student community and employers in these areas, as well as in terms of Employability, through the dissemination of relevant offers.

Useful information for students from outside of Portugal

On this link you will find information that may help you on your arrival in Portugal: <https://novalaw.unl.pt/en/study-in-lisbon/>

Visa and residence permit

The service responsible for issues related to entry and stay in Portugal is the AIMA- Agência para Integração e Asilo.

Through this link <https://aima.gov.pt/pt> you will find general information on the subject. In this other link <https://studyinlisbon.pt/en/study-lounge/> you can consult the contact options with the AIMA for students and researchers.

In order to justify your stay in Portugal you will need to present a document that proves your registration - a registration certificate. You should request the registration certificate from your NetPA.

The School only issues documents related to the students' academic record; personal documents are the students' sole responsibility.

NIF - Tax Identification Number

The issuing of the NIF is within the scope of the Autoridade Tributária e Aduaneira

<https://eportugal.gov.pt/noticias/pedido-de-nif-online-para-cidadaos-estrangeiros-e-recem-nascidos> In this link you can consult the information about the request for issuing the NIF and contact options to clear any doubts on this subject.

The attribution of the NIF is essential to stay in Portugal, allowing you to work, open a bank account or comply with tax obligations, namely regarding renting for housing purposes.

Health (Travel Insurance, European Health Insurance, CDAM, User ID No.)

Health insurance is not mandatory to enter Portugal, but it is necessary to have travel insurance for possible medical and hospital expenses. Travel insurance is compulsory for all foreigners entering the Schengen area.

In Portugal it is not compulsory for citizens to have health insurance, as there is the SNS (National Health System), which guarantees universal public health care.

European Health Insurance Card

The European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) allows a person insured or covered by a social protection scheme in one of the 27 Member States of the European Union, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, Switzerland or the United Kingdom to obtain from public health care providers the medical assistance that their state of health requires during their temporary stay in any of these states.

It is a single model card, common throughout the European Union, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway and Switzerland, which is free of charge and designed to simplify identification of its holder and the institution which is financially responsible for the cost of the health care he/she may need.

For information, please consult this link: <https://en.seg-social.pt/homepage/>

Certificate of the Right to Medical Assistance (CDAM)

The Certificate of the Right to Medical Assistance - CDAM is a certificate resulting from social security agreements signed by Brazil with Cape Verde, Italy and Portugal, which allows Brazilian citizens and foreign residents in Brazil to be treated in the public health network of those countries as local citizens.

This certificate can replace travel insurance.

For more information, please consult this link: <https://www.gov.br/pt-br/servicos/obter-certificado-de-direito-a-assistencia-medica>

Request for a SNS user number

The user number is assigned to each person to identify him/her in the access to the services of the public healthcare units of the National Health Service (SNS). Foreigners with a residence or permanence permit in Portugal must request the SNS user number. If you have a residence permit or work visa in Portugal, just go to the health centre in your area of residence with that document and your tax identification number (NIF).

If you don't have a residence permit or work visa, but live in Portugal for more than 90 days, you have to ask for a residence certificate in your parish council. Then you only need to present this document and your NIF to register in the health centre and obtain your user number.

If you have lived in Portugal for less than 90 days and are not permanently resident in Portugal, you can make a provisional registration. Contact the Linha Saúde 24 (808 24 24 24) for instructions on how to create a provisional user number.

For more information, see: <https://eportugal.gov.pt/servicos/pedir-o-numero-de-utente-do-sns>

FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions

Registrations

What do the various types of curricular units (CU) of the Masters consist of?

- Compulsory C.U./ECTS: Course units that each student has to perform compulsorily to finish the course;
- Curricular Units/ECTS of restricted option: Curricular units/ECTS available by option groups, within which students must obligatorily perform a certain number of ECTS described in the regulations by group;
- Free choice CUs/ECTS: Credits that can be taken in Course Units of the same course or of any master's course offered by NOVA School of Law, within the rules established for the attendance of curricular units of the School.

What does the part-time study regime consist of?

The part-time study regime consists in the enrolment in a smaller number of course units maximum 30 ECTS per academic year in relation to the recommended study plan of the course. Every year, any student can request the change of the study regime at the moment of enrollment.

The part-time regime implies the payment of a lower tuition fee (65% of the total tuition fee), but it also means a longer duration of the course, since fewer ECTS will be completed per academic year.

Can I enrol in supplementary curricular units in both stages of the course (teaching and research phase)?

Yes, under the following conditions:

- The enrolment in supplementary curricular units of the same or other study cycles is subject to the existence of vacancies and requires the authorization of the Board, to be requested by means of a reasoned request to be presented to the Academic Service.
- The enrolment in supplementary curricular units by students attending the research phase of the respective study cycle, up to a maximum of three additional curricular units during the entire research phase, is subject to vacancies and requires the authorization of the Board, to be requested by means of a reasoned request to be submitted to the Academic Division.
- The enrolment in supplementary course units by students of NOVA School of Law under the present regime does not give rise to the payment of additional fees. It corresponds to a benefit granted by NOVA School of Law.
- For additional information we suggest consulting Regulation No. 1126/2020 in Regulations > Study cycles and other educational offer > Others > "Repetition of curricular units. Appeals and improvement of grades. Frequency of supplementary curricular units.

<https://novalaw.unl.pt/legislacao-e-documentos-de-gestao/>

Can I request the freezing of my enrolment?

No, there is no freezing of enrolment. If you wish to interrupt your studies, you must formalise your withdrawal through a request addressed to the Academic Service.

Is it possible to unenrol in a certain school year while keeping my enrolment active?

If you do not wish to continue your studies in a particular academic year, you must submit a withdrawal request. The withdrawal from the academic year, if accepted and fulfilled the terms of the withdrawal, allows you to submit in the following academic year(s) a request for re-entry to the same course or course that has replaced it.

How can I formalise a withdrawal request?

The withdrawal request must be formalized through a request addressed to the Academic Service. In accordance with the Fee Regulations of NOVA School of Law, in case of withdrawal there is no refund of fees already paid. The tuition fees due for the academic year to which the enrolment relates need to be paid.

How and when should I enrol for the academic year, having interrupted my studies on the Master's course?

You must submit an application for Re-entry according to the application calendar available for each academic year. This information is available for consultation on the NOVA School of Law website > Educational Offer > Master's Degrees > Applications > Re-entry.
<https://novalaw.unl.pt/mestrados/>

What does re-enrolment consist of? Can I re-enrol in a different course from the one I was previously enrolled in?

Re-entry can be requested when a student, after an interruption of studies in a specific course and higher education institution, intends to enrol in the same institution and enrol in the same course. Thus, re-entry can only be requested for the course that was interrupted or for the one that succeeded it as long as there has been a formalized interruption of the enrolment to the course.

The re-entry application is subject to a fee, in accordance with the table of fees in force, as well as to the observance of the deadlines defined for that purpose.

The Faculty reserves the right to reject applications for re-entry of students whose curricular history indicates serious difficulties in adapting to the study plan in force and the type of teaching provided at NOVA School of Law. Applications from students who owe fees or any other amounts to the Faculty will be rejected, without prejudice to the provisions of Law No. 75/2019, of September 2.

I have a tuition fee debt from previous academic years. Can I register and enrol?

Students with outstanding tuition fees will only be able to enrol for the following year with a payment plan approved by the School's Board.
<https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/page>

Evaluation

What is the grading scale in force in the School?

The classification is expressed on a scale of 0 to 20 points.

How can I consult my grades?

You can consult the notes in Netpa > Consult Grades > Consult Grades.
<https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/page>

Important note: in the case of final-year students, if the request for the Degree Registration Certificate is formalized, there will no longer be possible to take improvement exams. If you wish to take improvement exams, you should not request the registration of your degree.

Where are the timetables of semester/appeal/improvement exams published?

The calendar is available on Netpa > Exams and Academic Tests

<https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/page>

Students who, for any reason, namely the scheduling of exams on coinciding or adjacent dates, see their rights to take an exam in the regular season diminished, may obtain authorisation to take the exam in question in a special season, by means of a reasoned request addressed to the Board.

Am I entitled to the special examination period?

The special season is intended only for students who fall within the situations provided for in Article 9 of Regulation No. 357/2020 - Assessment of Knowledge and Skills.

How can I register for the special season exam(s)?

Where and when is the special season exam schedule published?

The calendar is available on Netpa > Exams and Academic Tests and will be released after the end of registrations.

<https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/page>

How can I calculate the final average of the Master's course?

The final Masters course average is calculated as follows:

"The final classification of the 2nd cycle is obtained through the simple arithmetic average of two parts:

- a) The first tranche is completed by the arithmetic average, rounded up to hundredths, of the 10 highest marks awarded in the curricular units in which the student passed;
- b) The second parcel is filled by the classification attributed by the jury to the dissertation, project work or internship report."

For additional information we suggest consulting the Regulations:

- Regulamento n.º 357/2020 em Regulamento > Ciclos de estudos e demais oferta formativa > Outros > "Regulamento de Avaliação de Conhecimentos e Competências - Épocas de Exames" (Regulation of the Evaluation of Knowledge and Skills - Examination Periods)

Tuition

How can I consult my tuition fees situation and the ATM references to settle them?

The financial situation of each student can be consulted in their personal area on Netpa > FINANCIAL STATUS > Fees.

The fractioning of instalments and the respective ATM references for the payment of the fee are generated autonomously by each student and can be consulted on Netpa > FINANCIAL STATUS > Fees

The references can also be generated in Netpa > Payments > (Select item to pay) > Item(s) to pay > (select ATM or Paypal reference) > Next > Confirm
<https://netpa.novalaw.unl.pt/netpa/page>

I benefit from a scholarship. Do I have to pay tuition fees?

Tuition fees are payable by all students, regardless of their status as grantees.

The act of enrolment is voluntary and should be pondered, and is not conditioned to the eventual obtaining of any support subsidy or scholarship. Once the enrolment is made, the place is occupied and each student has the obligation to pay the full annual tuition fee.

Is payment due for all academic acts and for issuing official documents requested from the Academic Service?

The academic acts and official documents that require the payment of emoluments are listed in the NOVA School of Law Emoluments Table currently in force: Deliberation No. 702/2020 - Update of the emoluments table, of 26 June 2020

The table of fees is available for consultation on the NOVA School of Law website Regulations > Study Cycles and other formation offer > Others > "Table of Fees - Deliberation No. 702/2020".

<https://novalaw.unl.pt/legislacao-e-documentos-de-gestao/>

I attended only one semester this academic year. Do I have to pay the annual fee?

Yes. The enrolment for Masters courses is annual and the amount is due in full, as indicated in the announcement of enrolment, so there is no regulatory provision for exemption/refund of amounts due to non-attendance of the course.

Crediting

I have already attended a course in higher education. Can the course units I have successfully completed be used on my current course?

The use of successfully completed course units is called crediting. Crediting is the possibility for an institution to recognise previous training and professional experience through the attribution of credits.

By recognizing the acquired competences and the training carried out previously, the crediting allows the student to progress or conclude his/her higher education course more rapidly, in the exact proportion of the recognition granted. The decision of the crediting is taken by the scientific commission of the School to which the course in which the student is regularly enrolled belongs and depends on the understanding of that body regarding the relevance of the subjects taught for the course in question.

The application for crediting is subject to the payment of fees. The table of fees is available for consultation on the NOVA School of Law website Regulations > Study Cycles and other educational offer > Others > Table of Fees - Deliberação n.º 702/2020.

Is it compulsory to apply for creditation?

No. The procedure is optional even if you have attended other courses previously. However, if you wish to obtain credit, this necessarily depends on the respective request.

When should I make a request for crediting?

The application for crediting of academic training and professional experience obtained prior to admission to the relevant study cycle must be submitted online, at the time of application, by filling in the appropriate form and attaching all relevant documentation. There is no legal provision for submitting applications during the course, with the exception of training obtained after entry.

The application must necessarily be submitted at the time of application, but it will only be considered by the competent jury and the emoluments will be charged after admission and enrolment in the course.

What documents do I have to present?

a) In the case of crediting of academic training in higher education institutions, national or foreign, the application should be accompanied by a copy of the academic transcripts indicating the curricular units completed in the institution of origin, a certified copy of the study plan issued by the respective educational establishment, as well as the respective ECTS and marks obtained, a copy of the syllabus of each curricular unit (Curricular unit file) of the institution of origin for which the equivalence is requested.

b) In the case of crediting professional experience, the application shall be accompanied by a curriculum vitae (CV) containing the relevant information, namely: description of the accumulated experience, mentioning when, where and in what context it was obtained; indication of the knowledge, competences and skills allegedly acquired by the applicant through professional experience; copy of works, projects and other elements demonstrating the effective learning outcomes; duly certified supporting documentation of the elements contained in the CV.

Is there a limit to the number of credits that can be awarded?

Only a maximum of 50% of the total ECTS of the course at NOVA School of Law may be credited. Under no circumstances is it allowed to credit training of a lower level than that of the course you are attending at NOVA School of Law (e.g.: course completed in the 1st cycle cannot be credited in the 2nd cycle of studies).

What is the cost associated to the accreditation request?a) In the case of crediting of academic training:

a.1) Requests for creditation of knowledge and competences held in another Higher Education Institution: the procedure has an associated cost of 42 euros for the first 4 ECTS credited + 10 euros for each additional ECTS, according to the fee table of Universidade NOVA de Lisboa .

a.2) Applications for the creditation of knowledge and skills acquired at the New University of Lisbon: the procedure has an associated cost of 21 euros for the first 4 ECTS credited + 5 euros for each additional ECTS.

a.3) The requests for crediting knowledge and competences at the level of post-graduate courses - graduation, non-degree courses, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees held at NOVA School of Law are exempt from payment of fees.

b) In the case of crediting professional experience:

b.1) Request for creditation of the referred knowledge and skills acquired outside any Higher Education Institution: the procedure has an associated cost of 85€ for the first 4 ECTS credited + 22€ for each additional ECTS.

The table of fees is available for consultation on the NOVA School of Law website Regulations > Study Cycles and other educational offer > Others > "Table of Fees - Deliberation No. 702/2020".
